FOR THE 5th YEAR IN A ROW MUELLER OFFERS A METAL BUILDING TO A DESERVING TEXAS NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 23, 2013...Ballinger, TX...Mueller, Inc., a leading manufacturer of steel buildings and residential metal roofing, wants to extend a helping hand again this year to a Texas non-profit in need of a new facility. The campaign is called "Helping Hand." One organization will be selected to receive a new Mueller steel building up to 4,000 square feet through applications received by June 1, 2013.

Mueller believes strongly believes in giving back to struggling organizations that always give to others, whether it is a food bank facility, a volunteer firehouse, or maybe a senior citizen center. Upon making the announcement, Mike Fry, director of marketing for Mueller said, "With a large amount of applications received annually for our Helping Hand contest, it is apparent that there are many struggling organizations right here in Texas. We are glad to help the recipient change lives – now and for many years to come."

For the 5th straight year, Mueller is teaming up with the popular television series, "Texas Country Reporter" with Bob Phillips to publicize this offering. Viewers of the program representing non-profit organizations will be invited to write in and explain why their organization is worthy of receiving a Mueller steel building. The winner will be announced on the television show this fall.

Last year's recipient was the Scheib Center in San Marcos. This non-profit assists the community with developmental disabilities and mental health issues.
